The strength of the International chassis is nothing short of legendary and the 360HP diesel engine delivers exceptional power and performance. The Nexus RV construction far exceeds the industry norm. The Ghost boast an all STEEL cage construction instead of the normal aluminum framed construction found in the competition. Steel cage construction is 72% stronger than aluminum and is only common place in RVs such as the Foretravel Realm or a Prevost bus conversion. Construction highlights such as 2 layers of Azdel substrate in the sidewalls & roof! The Azdel product provides 3X the insulation value of wood and is 50% lighter which will help optimize your engine s performance and fuel economy, and because it is not a wood material harvested from the rain forest it is both greener and provides a less than 1% chance of retaining any moisture that could ever lead to wall separation or mold. It is also formaldehyde free, impact resistant and a sound absorbing material creating a much quieter Space.
